LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY

The Heritage Property Act, R.S.N.S. 1989, c. 199

Section 20

- (1) The Minister may enter into an agreement with the owner of a provincial heritage property, and the council may enter into an agreement with the owner of a municipal heritage property or property located in a heritage conservation district, whereby the owner grants to the Minister or the council a right or incurs an obligation respecting the use, preservation or protection of the heritage property or property located in a heritage conservation district.

- (4) A right or obligation created by an agreement made pursuant to subsection (1) may be waived or discharged by the Governor in Council in respect of provincial heritage property and by the municipality in respect of municipal heritage property or property located in a heritage conservation district.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that the Heritage Advisory Committee recommend that Regional Council:

1. Retain the existing heritage agreement but consent to a waiver of the right of first refusal for lot 2E-1 granted to the Halifax Regional Municipality by Diana Joyce Higgs in sections 3(e) and 4 of an amended Heritage Agreement for the Sir Sandford Fleming Lodge (1260 Blenheim Terrace, Halifax) dated June 2, 1998; and
2. Authorize the Mayor and Clerk to execute the necessary release on behalf of the municipality to effect the waiver as outlined in recommendation #1.

BACKGROUND

A request has been made by property owner Dianna Higgs to amend an existing heritage agreement for a municipal heritage property located at 1260 Blenheim Terrace, Halifax (Map1). The subject property was registered as a municipal heritage property by the former City of Halifax following a Council meeting on December 11, 1981. The property is also subject to a heritage agreement executed filed at the Registry of Deeds on June 4, 1998 (document 16388, book 6226, page 151-155 Attachment A), and subsequently amended. Also see attachment B, 1998 plan of survey clearly showing 1260 Blenheim Terrace (lot 2E-1).

Sandford Fleming was born in Kirkcaldy, Scotland in 1827. He arrived in Canada in 1845, trained as a civil engineer, and became the chief engineer for the both Intercolonial Railway from Quebec to Halifax, and the Canadian Pacific Railway from St. John to Vancouver. Fleming also played a key role in the development of a worldwide system of keeping time, which would become known as Standard Time, and was later knighted for this work.

The Lodge was built in 1871 by William Duffus, who sold it to Fleming in 1874. The house, which Fleming named 'Summerholme', was built on lands previously part of the Oland Estate. Duffus built "a unique house for his bride. Twenty-two little gabled windows dotted the sloping roofs, lighting the nine bedrooms within, and giving the house a delightful air of fantasy"¹. The house was designed in a highly ornamented Second Empire style and surrounded by large, well-groomed grounds. The Lodge has significant heritage value for its associations with Sir Sandford Fleming, but also for its impressive architectural style.

Heritage Property Act

Section 20 of the Heritage Property Act (HPA) provides that a Council may enter into an agreement with the owner of a municipal heritage property whereby the owner grants the Council a right or incurs an obligation respecting the use, preservation or protection of the heritage property. This section also states that any right or obligation created by an agreement may be waived or discharged by the municipality.

Section 20A allows for the appeal of the entering into, or waiving or discharging of, heritage agreements to the Nova Scotia Utility and Review Board.

Heritage Agreement

In 1996 Council approved a heritage agreement for the subject property permitting the subdivision of the property into 4 new single family dwelling lots, and one remainder lot for the Sir Sandford Fleming Lodge. The agreement includes design criteria for the new dwellings, a tree retention plan, and height limits for the new residential building lots. Additionally, the heritage agreement contains clauses providing permanent protection of the Sir Sandford Fleming Lodge, requiring the owners to permanently waive Section 18 (Application to Alter or Demolish) of the Heritage Property Act, and the owner is "obligated to maintain the exterior of the main lodge as may be reasonable required".

¹ Watts, Heather and Raymond, Michele. Halifax's Northwest Arm: An Illustrated History. Halifax: Formac Publishing Co., 2003.

Subsequently, three amending agreements were approved by Regional Council. These amendments permitted the reconfiguration and number of new single family dwellings resulting in 5 new single family dwelling lots and one remainder for the heritage building. In addition to permitting the subdivision of the land, the agreement required the municipality to de-register each of the single family lots once they had been built upon: on February 24, 2015, Regional Council approved the de-registration of the last of the new single family lots.

DISCUSSION

The subject heritage property is approximately 1 acre in size, and has access to Thornvale Avenue to the north and to Blenheim Terrace (deeded access) to the south. The property is zoned R-1 (Single Family Zone) under the Halifax Peninsula Land Use Bylaw. Current photographs of the property can be found in Attachment C of this report.

The existing heritage agreement allowed for appropriate redevelopment/subdivision of the property, and it continues to provide significant protections to the heritage property. The agreement contains provisions which require regular maintenance of the Lodge, restrict any further subdivision of the property, and require that the owners “completely and unconditionally” waive their rights to section 18 of the Heritage Property Act regulating demolition and substantial alteration of the property without Council’s approval (Attachment A).

The agreement also gives HRM a right of first refusal on any sale of lot 2E-1 (Attachment B), the Sir Sanford Fleming Lodge. The owner believes that this right of first refusal for any sale of the property is having a negative impact on the saleability of the property, and has therefore requested that HRM waive its right of first refusal. The relevant sections of the agreement are:

- Section 3(e) states:

The Developer agrees that the Halifax Regional Municipality has the right of first refusal, on any sale of lot 2E-1, which includes the Historic Sir Sandford Fleming Lodge, as described in Schedule “A” forming part of this Agreement.

- Section 4 states:

In further consideration of the approval contained in clause 3(e) hereof, the Developer covenants and agrees with the Region as follows:

- (a) If the Developer receives a bona fide offer to purchase that part of the property shown in Schedule “A” as Lot 2E-1 or any part thereof which includes the Historic Sir Sandford Fleming Lodge (hereinafter referred to as the “Purchase Offer”) the Developer agrees to first offer the lands for sale to the Region on the same terms and conditions as are contained in the purchase offer.*
- (b) The offer to sell the lands to the Region shall be communicated to the Region in writing and shall be irrevocable until midnight of the fifteenth day following the delivery of the same to the Region...and if not accepted by that time, the offer to sell shall be null and void and the Developer shall in that event be free to accept the Purchase Offer.*

The heritage agreement provides significant protection to the heritage property, and therefore a full discharge of the agreement is not warranted. It is unclear the reason for the inclusion of the sections of the agreement listed above providing the municipality the right to purchase the Sir Sandford Fleming Lodge. Based on information in the heritage file, it appears that a substantial alteration, heritage agreement and de-registration were all presented to the property owners in 1991. A heritage agreement was suggested as a mechanism for future changes to the property which would respect the City’s heritage policies and procedures, that would be developed jointly by the property owner and the City.

The 2016 (residential taxable) assessed value of the property is $1,593,400 and the property was recently listed for sale in early 2016 for $1,695,000. Other typical property acquisition costs HRM would assume are outlined in the table below:

Cost Description	Amount
Purchase Price for the property	$1,695,000
Deed Transfer Tax (1.5% Purchase Price)	HRM is Exempt
Demolition (Approximate)	N.A.
Deed Registration	$100
Due Diligence/Administrative*	$15,000
Subtotal	$1,710,100
5% Contingency	$95,505
Total	$1,805,605

Due diligence could include, but not limited to, building assessment, environmental site assessment, Legal fees. The right of first refusal requires the Region to respond to the purchase offer within fifteen days of receipt. This presents practical challenges within the municipality's current administrative processes, as presenting any such offer to Council within that time frame could be difficult without calling a special meeting of Council.

There is presently no formal internal process set up to determine if there is a strategic need for acquisition of the property; therefore, staff have utilized a technical review committee set up under Administrative Order 50 (Disposal of Surplus Real Property) to provide preliminary comments regarding departmental needs. Contact with HRM departments included: Transportation & Public Works (Right of Way Services and Municipal Operations), Finance (Grants and Contributions), Planning & Development (Planning and Development Approvals), Transit, Parks and Recreation, and Police. None of these departments have raised any potential rationale for property acquisition.

In conclusion, it is heritage staff's opinion that the protection of the heritage values of the Sir Sandford Fleming Lodge will not be affected by removing the sections of the existing heritage agreement providing the municipality the right of first refusal. The property will remain a registered heritage property, and the heritage agreement will remain in effect. Should the property change ownership the remaining clauses in the agreement will continue to provide adequate protection to the heritage property. Heritage staff support the request for Council to waive its right of first refusal and recommend approval.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

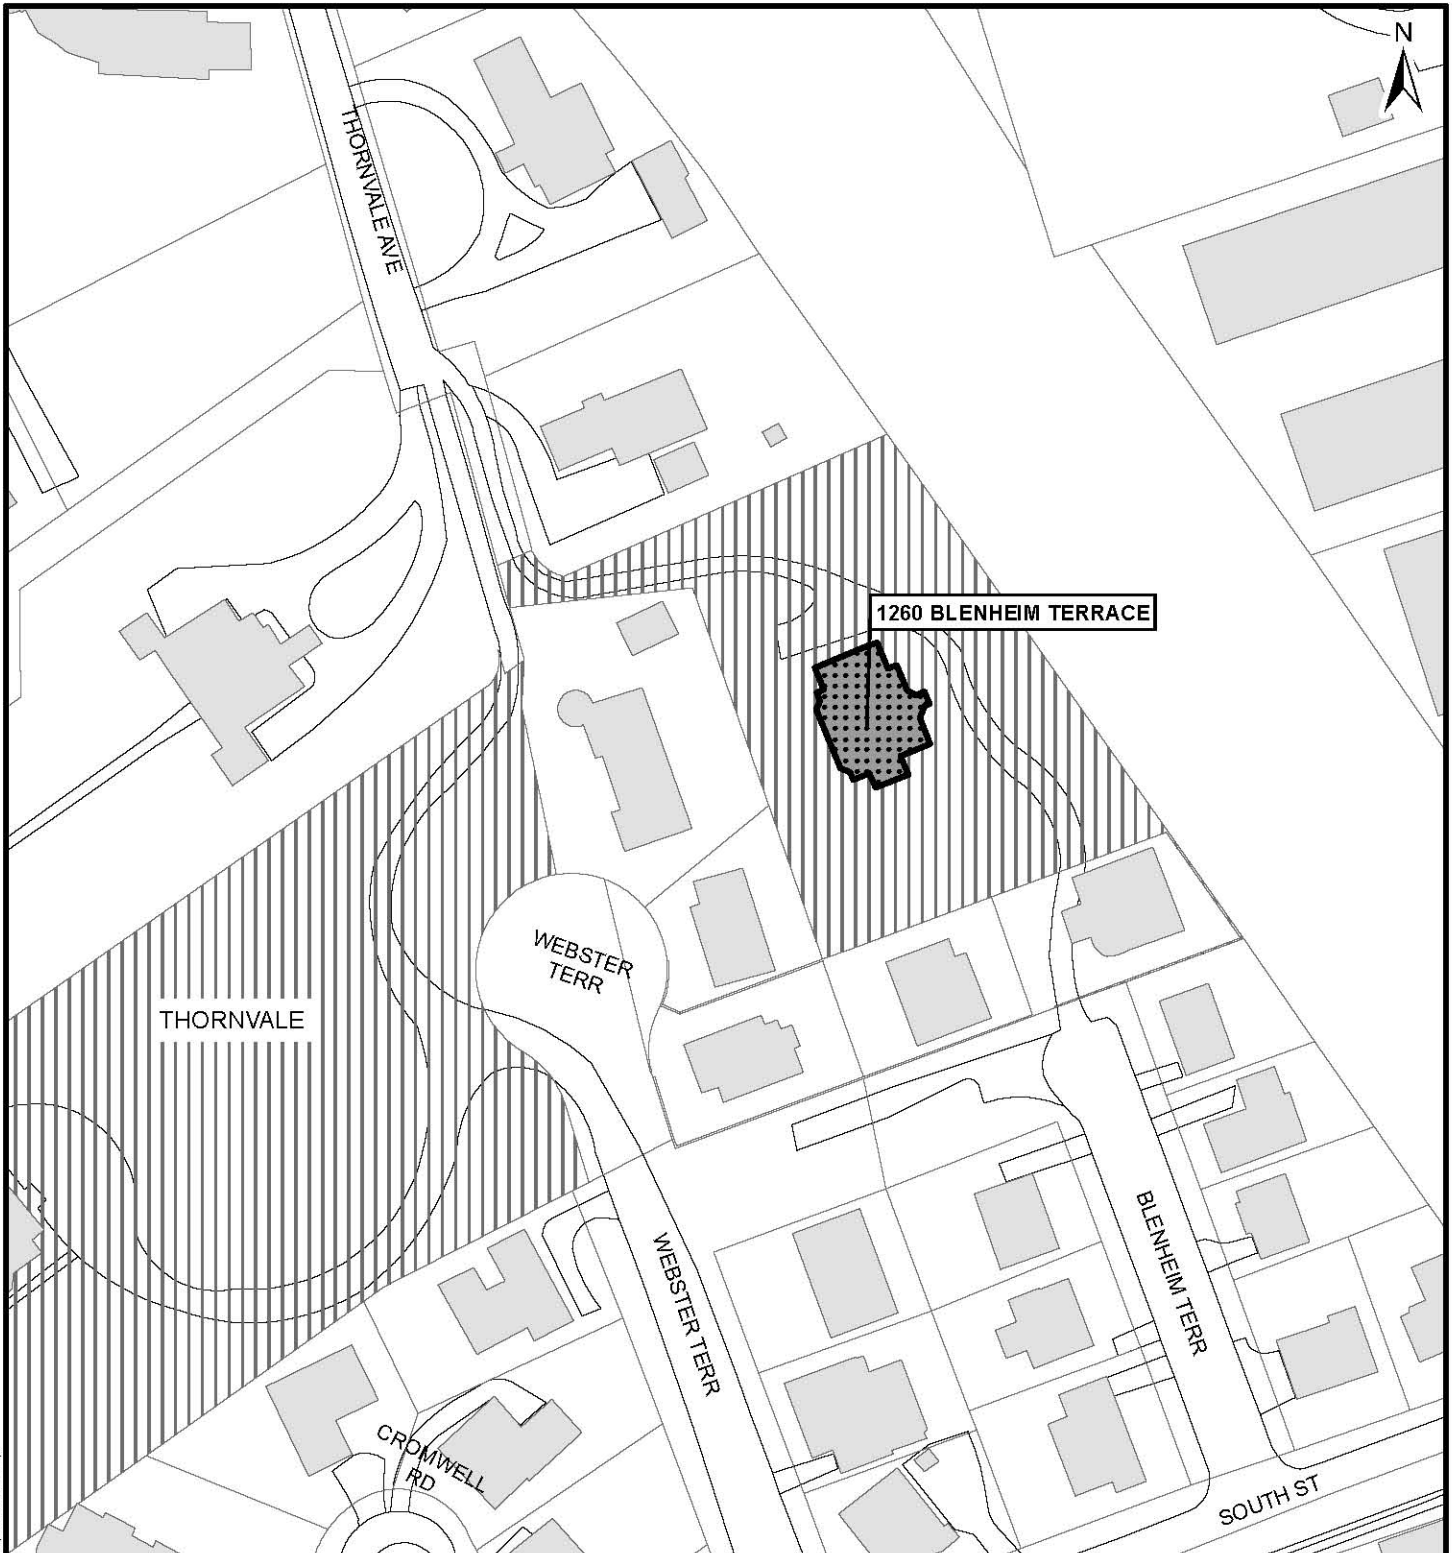

The HRM costs associated with advertising and processing this application can be accommodated within the approved 2016/17 operating budget for C002 Urban Design.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

The Heritage Property Act provides for appeals to the Nova Scotia Utility and Review Board when entering into, or waiving/discharging of a right or condition in a heritage agreement. This level of community engagement is consistent with the intent of the HRM Community Engagement Strategy.
