

Permits and permit applications have been organized by permit application number, in descending order. The files are therefore organized from recent to oldest. The original order had no clear organizational system.

Where available, permits that correspond with permit applications have been grouped together. Permits have their own number in the top right corner, as well as listing the permit application number that they correspond with. Permits are pink, and are always placed ahead of their corresponding applications within the PDF.

Some permit numbers and building numbers may be searchable; others may not be depending on the ink colour, paper colour, and whether or not the number is handwritten.

A searchable finding aid is available which lists each application number and permit number, owner, building number (corresponding to map P500/46) or street name and the corresponding page number in the PDF. It can tell you on which page of this pdf you will find permits related to a particular property.”
