4. Adopt the proposed amendments to the Regional Municipal Planning Strategy, Secondary Municipal Planning Strategies, and Land Use By-laws, as set out in Attachments C, D, and E.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The purpose of the Public Participation Administrative Order (Public Participation AO) is to identify opportunities and methods for seeking public opinions on all planning documents. It also establishes standards for public participation for new development agreements and amendments to a land use by-law where a municipal planning strategy amendment is not required. The Public Participation AO:

- establishes a minimum standard for public participation for planning documents and planning applications;
- identifies that additional methods for public participation for planning documents can be further developed using the Planning and Development Engagement Guidebook; and
- establishes a method for engaging with abutting municipalities, as per the requirements of the Halifax Regional Municipality Charter (Charter).

To coincide with adoption of the Public Participation AO, amendments are proposed to existing community planning documents. This will ensure that engagement requirements are consistent with the Public Participation AO, resolve conflicts with HRM Charter requirements and remove outdated language. The proposed amendments for the Regional Municipality Planning Strategy, Municipal Planning Strategies and Land Use By-laws include:

- Adding new policy in the Regional Plan to support the implementation of the Guidebook and Administrative Order;
- Removing outdated references to public hearing procedures;
- Removing redundant references to specific committees or other advisory groups; and
- Removing outdated legislative references (e.g., the Municipal Government Act or the Planning Act).

BACKGROUND

Since 2016, Planning and Development has been continually updating and reviewing engagement practices, policies and processes. Some of these improvements include lessening the dependence on public information meetings by encouraging open house-style meetings, using a range of mediums to allow residents to engage, developing more user-friendly outreach, and redesigning notifications and signage, as well as updating virtual engagement as a response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

On August 9, 2022¹, staff brought forward a report for the Planning and Development Public Engagement Guidebook (Guidebook). The Guidebook was developed following Regional Council's direction in 2016 to update HRM's engagement processes to establish an updated and consistent approach to designing engagement practices. The purpose of the Guidebook is to support staff in pro-actively addressing public engagement with influence, impact, inclusion, and accessibility as primary and core considerations. To accompany the Guidebook, Regional Council directed staff to develop an administrative order to establish minimum standards for public participation. Further, recent amendments² to the Halifax Regional Municipality Charter have changed the Municipality's requirements for public notification and public hearings when adopting and amending planning documents.

DISCUSSION

The policy for public engagement is set out in proposed Administrative Order 2023-002-ADM, Respecting Public Participation for Planning Documents, Certain Planning Applications, and Engagement and Engagement with Abutting Municipalities (the Public Participation AO), provided in Attachment A of this report. The Public Participation AO establishes standards for information sharing and standardizes public engagement practices. Through the Administrative Order, residents will be able to participate in public engagement and understand the minimum standard by which the Municipality will engage during various planning processes.

Overview of the Administrative Order

The purpose of the Public Participation AO is to identify opportunities and methods for seeking public opinions on all planning documents. It also allows for public participation for new development agreements and amendments to land use by-law where a municipal planning strategy amendment is not required. The Public Participation AO:

- establishes a minimum standard for public participation for all planning documents (optional public consultation for development agreements and land use by-law amendments), which includes:
 - posting information on the municipal website about the planning application;
 - requiring a public comment period; and
 - posting signage on subject properties;
- identifies that additional methods for public participation for planning documents can be further developed using the Planning and Development Engagement Guidebook;
- establishes a method for engaging with abutting municipalities, as per the requirements of the HRM Charter.

The Public Participation AO is provided in Attachment A. The proposed AO will replace the 1997 Public Participation Resolution (Attachment B). There is an accompanying amendment to the Community Council Administrative Order clarifying that the public meetings hosted by the planning advisory committees are led by staff and that the notice of a public meeting needs to comply with the required seven day notice under the Public Participation AO.

Overview of Proposed Amendments to Planning Documents

To coincide with adoption of the proposed Public Participation AO, amendments are proposed to existing community planning documents (the Regional Municipal Planning Strategy, Municipal Planning Strategies and Land Use By-laws) to ensure that engagement requirements are consistent with the Public Participation AO, resolve conflicts with HRM Charter requirements and remove outdated language. The proposed amendments for the Regional Municipality Planning Strategy, Municipal Planning Strategies and Land Use-Bylaws, provided in Attachments C, D, and E of this report, include:

- Adding new policy in the Regional Plan to support the implementation of the Guidebook and Administrative Order;
- Removing outdated references to public hearing procedures. Public hearing procedures are set out in the HRM Charter and do not need to be repeated in the individual planning documents;
- Removing redundant references to specific committees or other advisory groups. The Terms of Reference for the various committees already outline how to engage with these committees, and in some cases these documents reference pre-amalgamation committees that no longer exist;
- Removing outdated legislative references (e.g. the Municipal Government Act or the Planning Act). The MGA replaced the Planning Act in 1999 and the Municipality was subject to it until 2008. Following that, the Municipality has operated under the HRM Charter which includes the applicable statutory planning provisions.

A Summary Table of proposed amendments is contained in Attachment F.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

Should Council choose to implement the proposed new public participation policy there will be limited impacts to the P&D operating budget for 2022-2023. Generally, the proposed process changes should result in an overall reduction of existing costs. For example, funding for staff overtime costs associated with evening meetings could be re-allocated towards other public engagement mediums such as improving technology, enhancing web-presence, the use of social media, and spending time in direct contact with citizens. Conversely, specific engagement programs that are wide-reaching and impactful in nature will have greater costs associated with them. These will be considered on an annual basis, through the Budget and Business Planning process for P&D.

RISK CONSIDERATION

By continuing to use older documents to guide engagement which are not reflective of current practices or best practices for diversity, inclusion and accessibility, Regional Council risks developing engagement programs that are not reflective of their current policy goals. Further risk is brought by not making the process and minimum standards available publicly.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

The Administrative Order establishes minimum standards for public participation and engagement and provides further direction for public participation in the Guidebook. Research methodology and summary and engagement statistics for activities undertaken to prepare the Guidebook was outlined in the Planning and Development Public Participation Policy staff report dated August 5, 2022.³ The Guidebook provides a range of flexible techniques to engage and encourage the community, particularly underrepresented and underserved communities, to participate in civic activities and be formally recognized in the decision-making processes of P&D.

Engagement specifically for amendments to the Municipal Planning Strategies and the Land Use By-laws took place between September 16th and September 30th, 2022. Considering the power outages and impacts following Hurricane Fiona, the comment period was extended to October 7th, 2022. The comment period was in the form of online engagement through a dedicated website on the Shape Your City Platform⁴, which allowed comments to be provided through an online form. The engagement was advertised through social media.

Statistics showed a total of 96 visits to the site and 47 document downloads during the engagement period. There were 49 participants that visited at least one page and 21 participants that were informed (visited multiple project pages or contributed to a tool). Although participants were aware or informed, there was very little feedback received on the proposed amendments to the Municipal Planning Strategies and Land Use By-laws. There was one comment for feedback regarding strengthening enforcement and penalties for developers who violate by-laws. The remaining comments were questions, which could not be directly answered as the responses were anonymous. The Regional Planning email address and phone number were posted in case residents had questions, but no phone calls or emails were received. In response, staff added a Frequently Asked Question page to the Shape Your City site to answer the questions and provide further clarification. The comments and questions is provided in Attachment G.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPLICATIONS

Incorporating the use of virtual technology (website) and traditional methods (phone, mailout) for engagement allows Regional Council to continue to minimize barriers to engagement, but also reduces the need for residents to travel to meetings and limits the GHG emissions associated with this travel.

ALTERNATIVES

1. Regional Council may refuse to adopt and amend the Administrative Orders or approve the proposed amendments to the Municipal Planning Strategies and Land Use By-laws. This is not the staff recommendation.
2. Regional Council may choose to direct staff to develop an Administrative Order on Public Participation that differs from the staff recommendation. This would require specific direction from Regional Council and a supplementary staff report.

Attachment F: Summary of Proposed Changes to Planning Documents

The Planning and Development Department is refreshing its public engagement strategies to advance best practices in diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility when seeking the public input. To ensure that planning documents are consistent with the direction provided by Regional Council, the Regional Plan, Municipal Planning Strategies and Land Use By-Laws are proposed to be amended. Planning documents are being updated to remove policies, policy references, and regulations that are inconsistent with Council direction, that are outdated or reference outdated legislations, or conflict with the Halifax Regional Municipality Charter. This table provides an outline of these policies.

NOTE: The proposed amendments are not intended to remove opportunities for engagement. The Planning and Development Public Engagement Guidebook will provide direction for updated, inclusive, and consistent approaches to engaging with the public, which will follow new standards through an Administrative Order.

Attachment G: Public Feedback on Proposed Amendments

Survey Question: Let us know what you think about the proposed changes to the Municipal Planning Strategies and the Land Use By-laws to update our public engagement strategy.
Anonymous Response	I can't understand this question
Anonymous Response	All for development but would like to see the municipality strengthen rule enforcement with developers. Near as i can tell they seem willing to shirk construction bylaws and are quite happy to pay a fine and continue on their way. Illegal basement apartments on new construction on the Bay road where the developer said they were for storage as one example. Make the penalties more penal.
Anonymous Response	One question. Is the Variance public engagement process being reviewed and updated, in particular a change to the notification of all residents, not just homeowners?
Anonymous Response	Because of the strong linkage between land use and transportation, are you looking at how the Public Engagement Guidebook will be applied to the 3 design stages of transportation infrastructure? Will we expect to see documentation of this process?
